REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The problem addressed by the instant method is to provide a process for recovering acetone from a waste stream from an acetone purification stage which requires less apparatus expenses and preferably reduces maintenance costs as well. See pages 2-3, para [0011].

This problem is solved according to the invention by providing a continuous process for recovering acetone from a waste stream from an acetone purification stage said waste stream comprising mesityl oxide, and optionally acetone by: i) separating the waste stream in a separating device at least in one stream comprising mesityl oxide, and optionally in a further stream comprising acetone, ii) concentrating mesityl oxide in the mesityl oxide containing stream and iii) recycling the concentrated mesityl oxide stream to the separating device and bringing it into contact with a basic or acidic medium or with an acidic catalyst in the presence of water whereby mesityl oxide is at least partially hydrolyzed to acetone. See page 3, paragraph [0012].

U.S. Patent 2,351,352 to McAllister et al and JP54070210 are both listed in IDS filed on June 3, 2008. McAllister et al is directed to a process of distilling a mixture of mesityl oxide, diacetone alcohol and isophorone in the presence of aqueous sodium hydroxide solution to separate mesityl oxide from the mixture. The Japanese Patent '210 is directed to a process of obtaining acetone from a hydrocarbon containing mesityl oxide by using an alkali waste liquor from acetone purification process. However, both references fail to disclose, inter alia, treating a waste stream obtained from acetone purification by first separating mesityl oxide from the waste stream and then concentrating mesityl oxide and recycling the concentrated mesityl oxide into the separation device as claimed e.g., in claim 13.

Thus, the subject matter of claims 2-3, 5-8, 10-21 and 24-26 is neither disclosed by the prior art nor is obvious. The claims are deemed allowable over the prior of record.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Virginia Manoharan whose telephone number is 571-272-1450.

If attempts to reach the examiner by telephone are unsuccessful, the examiner's supervisor, Glenn Caldarola, can be reached on 571-272-1444.

The fax phone number for the organization where this application or proceeding is assigned is 571-273-8300.
